Bioneuro Sigma Q®

Cumulative Energy Packet Technology Therapy System - from Biosysco

Being a Sports Therapist my job satisfaction comes from seeing my clients recovered from their injuries quickly and helping them to attain the goals they want to achieve.

The Bioneuro is a ground breaking therapy system now available to help people of all ages and condition to recover from debilitating injury quicker. Designed originally for the symptomatic relief of pain, the regeneration of muscle and re-education of nerve pathways, the system regularly produces significant improvements in a wide range of neuro- muscular dysfunction, especially after sports injury or surgical procedure.

Uniquely, the patented technology is capable of deep penetration to areas of the body not normally accessible with other superficially similar systems. It bypasses the peripheral sensory nerve matrix to avoid the discomfort and pins and needles effects so common with now out dated similar technologies.

So it can deliver its effective energy direct to the injured area increasing nerve and blood supply, waking up moribund nerves, regenerating nerve pathways, thereby accelerating recovery . Occupational or Sporting accidents ,Bad backs ,shoulders ,hips .We can help You get back to being the best you can be !.

The device is currently in use in several hospitals and in a number of private physiotherapist practices in the UK and is about to be launched in the USA.

The other major benefit of this equipment is that I have noted my clients take less pain killing drugs which in these days of financial constraints is another major feature.

These are reports from people I've treated in the past few months.

I'm a North Sea helicopter pilot and since transferring to the Augusta 139 helicopter 4 years ago, I have had pains in my neck and shoulders and have been seeing a Chiropractor over many months – and at great cost! The temporary relief I obtained rarely lasted more than 24 hours. Thankfully, I heard of Steve's machine and I had a session combined with a shoulder and back massage. After that session I have had no further problems and no pain whatsoever. I am so impressed with what Steve and the machine were able to do and am happy to recommend his excellent services, Thanks Steve.
